India Karuna Collaborative

Uniting voices for animals, people, and our planet

What is IKC and why now?

India stands at a critical juncture. As we build toward Viksit Bharat 2047, the choices we make about food systems, supply chains, and corporate responsibility will determine not just economic growth, but the health of our people and planet. Animals are central to our lives, economies, and ecosystems—yet their wellbeing is too often invisible in policy and business decisions. Through the India Karuna Collaborative, we aim to unify voices and raise awareness on animal sentience and the deep interconnections between animal wellbeing, human and planetary health.

"I believe that animals are sentient beings and that human, animal, and planetary wellbeing are interconnected. When animals suffer, people and the planet suffer too. I pledge to do my best to reduce animal suffering."
